

LOCALLY OWNED WINDOW WORLD
HOLDS TOP SPOT
 IN LOUISIANA AND THE NATION.

There are over 200 Window World franchises in the U.S. and collectively they rank as the largest home remodeling company in the nation.

The brightest star among them all is a family-owned, local company that continues to break its own sales records year after year.

Baton Rouge-based Window World, led by CEO Jim Roland, holds the distinction of being the number one window replacement company not only in Louisiana, but number one in the entire country as well. And sales volume for Roland's Window World enterprise continues to grow.

"I believe this accomplishment is a testament to the quality of our products, the lifetime warranty we offer, and the service we provide," said Roland.

His Window World customers must agree, because Roland says that more than 50 percent of his business comes from referrals, a fact in which he takes great pride.

Also a source of pride for the Louisiana native and LSU graduate is the inclusion of three of his children in the business. As part of the company's workforce in Baton Rouge, daughter Sarah Roland and sons Macon and Jacob Roland are certainly learning from the best in the business – Jim Roland, founder and CEO of the number one Window World franchise in America.
